REV. W. H. H. MURRAY ON CREEDS.

This gentleman gave the second lecture in the lyceum course at music hall Boston, on Wednesday evening, Oct. 9th. He commenced by an allusion to public opinion, which he defined as the creed of the masses, and which was the power that stood back of the laws and sustained the church. It was a power so strong that it could make any law of no effect in a week, and take the most ancient creeds of the church and rewrite and revise them at its will. This was the popular creed. What one man thought to-day another man thought to-morrow, and so it made a difference to every man what another man thought. Sometimes it even did one good to look at life from a pauper standpoint. He then said that he proposed to state his creed. not that it was of more value than another's. but to set them thinking and talking on the morrow. Speaking from the standpoint of a religious teacher, he affirmed that a creed could be, and often had been. overvalued. He believed in a creed and liked to see it written in black and white, but his creed was his own and not another man's. His creed was not metallic, but tree-like, capable of growth. Some worshipped creeds, but his had no value except as it was useful. He did not care a straw for all the creeds in Christendom save as they benefit man. The moment they cramped men and fostered bigotry they were hurtful. It was not verbal formulas that were beneficial, but the spirit of brotherhood. They had done fighting enough, and despised the theory which quibbled and picked quarrels. He searched not for an arena, but for a common platform. Some people judged a man's orthodoxy by the amount of fight there was in him, but he preferred the power of gentleness and the charm of quiet ways. The men who represented the highest spiritual force were men of quiet energy. The ministers that talked loud in the pulpit were those who thought little in the study. The speaker then turned abruptly to the labor reformers, who he said had been making an unreasonable amount of fuss. It was a grave problem, the relations of capital and labor, but thus far the agitation had been barely lifted above the level of contempt. It had been conducted in the interest of the worn out politicians and shirks. The object of trade unions seemed to be to conduct the agitation in such a way that the ordinary benefits of agitation should not be realized. No good had ever resulted from it, and nobody had given thought on the subject worth remembering except Phillips. Men had been obstructed instead of being assisted by it. Money had been squandered in unprofitable agitation, and a spirit of caste had been fostered. In a country like this a permanent injustice to labor was simply impossible, and the remedy was not in dictation but in co-operation. The restricting of the definition of labor to mutual labor was a gross error. He then spoke at some length on the differences between brain and hand labor, and claimed that the latter was the best paid, while the former brought with it the cares and troubles that murder sleep. Any definition that overlooked these was a fraud, and those who made it were ignoramuses or rogues, he did not know which.

The speaker then became autobiographical, and said that he had known what it was to work twelve hours a day under a hot July sun. and receive two silver half-dollar pieces for his pay. He had mowed his two acres of herd-grass per day for a dollar and a half per day, and had dug a ditch through blue clay for ten cents per hour. He had also known what it was to spend fifteen hours at the study-table, week in and week out, for months, while sleeping four hours out of twenty-four. He spent ten of the best years of his life in learning his trade, and he argued, as a remedy for the complaints of labor, that men should learn trades, and not shirk their work.

The second article of his creed had reference to amusements. He said there were multitudes who resisted every effort to make New England's character more pliant. His creed favored mirth, and he justified it by the divine design that all living things are created with the capability of being amused. Even dogs appreciate jokes, and they were doubly gifted, for they laughed at both ends at once. A home without a dog was like a circus without a clown. A horse, also, appreciated fun, and the speaker gave a description of his own farm-horse, and the frolics he had with it. He should as soon go home without kissing his wife as without having a frolic with his horse, and he never could tell which enjoyed the frolic the most. The fish had their races and jumps, the bear danced, and even the pig had a twinkle of humor in his eye. He never knew but one man who didn't laugh, and he was a thief. Gravity was a result. A sad faced child was a fool; and the first sign of intelligence which a mother could coax to a child's face was a smile. The human face was never perfect until it smiled. He believed that Christ was mirthful and that his face was smiling, though art was against him. But the traditional Christianity was not the natural. Christ stood in sharp contrast to all the religious teachers back of him. He was a companion and friend, and not a recluse, and there was no reason to suppose that Christ never laughed. He believed in the piety that could be taken into the base-ball ground or the private billiard room, and that could indulge in chess or whist. A man was never so near heaven as when using without abusing all good things of this earth. Every man must be a law unto himself in these matters. The worst tyrant in the world was a professor of religion who did not know anything; and in this connection, the speaker took occasion to pay his respects to old-fogy deacons.

Those who praised their departed minister at the expense of the living were too mean and contemptible to enjoy sanctuary privileges. They were the oracles of Christian decorum, who opposed riding in the street cars on Sunday, and would read no paper on Sabbath but the Congregationalist, and no book except those which no publishing house except a religious publishing house would ever think of issuing. He mentioned one instance of a man who lived on Capitol Hill, and when the Sunday car question was agitated, prayed and protested and wrote articles for the Congregationalist against riding in horse cars on the Sabbath, and denounced it as a plot of the Unitarians and the Parkerites to undermine the Orthodox faith. But this man moved from Capitol Hill to South End, and then he went to church every Sabbath, though he did not walk, and he did not keep a carriage. It could not be expected that a vital question should be viewed in the same light from Capitol Hill as from the South End. No Christian had a right to dictate to his brother in these matters. and every person must settle them for himselves. If a young lady came to him and asked him if it would be right for her to dance, he told her she must be a law unto herself: and so if a man uses tobacco, plays chess, euchre, or whist, or attends the opera, the matter must be left between his own conscience and his God. It was his opinion that the rules relative to amusements for children were too strict. There were not games and plays enough. If he had children, they should be taught to sing and dance and act, both in comedy and tragedy, and he should have Shakespeare stand way up near the Bible. Home should be made the center of all social gayety and intellectual life, under the eyes of father and mother. Of two young men in this city, who were adepts at playing euchre, one played every evening with his gray-haired father, as a healthy exercise, while the other played in a bar-room for drinks, and was rushing to ruin. The knowledge would come, and opposition only gave it zest. In his college class the only young man who cheated and bet at cards was a deacon's son, who learned to play old sledge in his father's hay loft, while his father was studying the commentary. If the old deacon had studied Barnes less and Hoyle more he would have saved that boy. He then spoke of the tyranny which many parents exercised over their children, and alluding to one father who flogged his boy for laughing on Sunday, said: "How that child must hate to hear his father pray at the prayer meetings!" He paid a high tribute to the memory of the man who reared seven children and never struck a blow. In concluding his elaboration of this article of his creed, he paid a well worded tribute to the never fading memories of home.

The third article in his creed was that every man, woman and child should have a perfect physique. Now-a-days people were crippled in the stomach; dyspepsia was one of the fine arts, and rheumatism a luxury which the poor could not enjoy. Good health was considered vulgar. For seventy years the scholarship of New England has had no tan on its cheeks, and a robust minister was looked upon as likely to be a heretic. It was a portion of his creed that a minister should live for a certain length of time out of doors, for the character of the woods was always simple, quiet and observant. He knew a guide in the Adirondacks who could teach many scholars astronomy, for he had studied Nature herself, and the sky was his time piece This wonderful aptness to interpret the preacher needs. And it cannot come from books. No one can truly worship God while he sleeps under a shingled roof, or lies in a ten-by twelve chamber with his eyes on the ceiling. His creed impelled him to seek God beneath the stars, with the weight of all upper spaces resting on him. He loved the church, which had been prepared for service, and the audible prayer: but his soul at times required more room. The vice of the age was artifice, and cunning ruled the hour. The clergyman was pointed out as eccentric if he dressed and acted like other people. The clergyman was frightened out of his individuality, and dared not breathe without his nose was buried in the pillow. No man was so forceful and no woman so attractive as when natural. The sermons of the day were not natural; they were grandfathers' sermons. The pulpit of New England is weaker to-day than it has been in a hundred and fifty years, because nature has been repressed. Some men who were dull in the pulpit were brilliant in the parlor, simply because there they were natural. If it was asked what was to be done to remedy this, he replied to the people, "Undo what you have done, and do not trammel your ministers and criticise their individuality."

The last element of his creed to which he made allusion was charity. He had met with a great deal of opposition and foiled it, but he bore no hatred in his soul. He had known what it was to toil and want. From ten to thirty years of his age he had not a dollar that was not earned with his hands, and his text-books were bought with privation. But best of all he had triumphed over all obsticles, and never seen an hour when he hated a living soul. He concluded with an invocation of the sweet spirit of charity.

THIRTY REASONS.

David Paul Brown, recently made an argument in favor of prohibition. in which he most completely set aside all constitutional and financial objections and gave the following thirty reasons why intoxicating liquors as a beverage should be prohibited by law. We would like to see some apologist for liquor selling attempt to offset them with the same number on the other side of the question. Mr. Brown asks all to join in the practical enforcement of the doctrine, that the sale of intoxicating liquor as a beverage should be prohibited by law, because:

1. They deprive men of their reason for the time being.
2. They destroy men of their greatest intellectual strength.
3. They foster and encourage every species of immorality.
4. They bar the progress of civilization and religion.
5. They destroy the peace and happiness of millions of families.
6. They reduce many virtuous wives and children to beggary.
7. They cause many thousands of murders.
8. They prevent all reformation of character.
9. They render abortive the strongest resolutions.
10. The millions of property expended in them are lost.
11. They cause the majority of cases of insanity.
12. They destroy both the body and soul.
13. They burden sober people with millions of paupers.
14. They cause immense expenditures to prevent crime.
15. They cost sober people immense sums in charity.
16. They burden the country with enormous taxes.
17. Because moderate drinkers want the temptation removed.
18. Drunkards want the opportunity removed.
19. Sober people want the nuisance removed.
21. The prohibition would save thousands now falling.
22. The sale exposes our person to insult.
23. The sale exposes our families to destruction.
24. The sale upholds the idle and vicious at the expense of the virtuous and industrious.
25. The sale subjects the sober to great oppression.
26. It takes the sober man's earnings to support the drunkard.
27. It subjects numberless wives to untold sufferings.
28. It is contrary to the Bible.
29. It is contrary to common sense.
30. We have a right to rid ourselves of the burden.

Senator Wilson's personal history, as told in sketches by himself during his campaign speeches, is an interesting one, and would serve to illustrate the success which crowns perseverent industry fully as well as Mr. Greeley's. Not financial success, it is true for the Senator owns that $10.000 would buy all the property he has in the world—but that success which is implied in his being chosen standard bearer of the republicans in the great campaign now in progress. Nobody but a knave has ever cast a doubt upon Wilson's honesty; how thoroughly honest and upright he must have been is apparent, when, at the close of eighteen years service in congress, his total assets reach only this modest sum. Many men have gone to Washington and returned richer than this in one year.

A committee of the women of Massachusetts in convention assembled, viz: Lydia Maria Child, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa M. Alcott. Grace Greenwood, Julia Ward Howe, Mary B. Livermore, Helen E. Garrison, Abby W. May, Caroline M. Severance, Harriet H. Robinson, Margaret W. Campbell, Mary F. Eastman, Ada C. Bowles. Elizabeth P. Peabody. Harriet W. Sewell and Lucy Stone, call upon the women of the United States to use all their aid and influence for the election of Grant and Wilson, not because they believe the co operation of women necessary to the success of their election, but to demonstrate that the women of America are capable of political responsibility, and can co-operate to create an overwhelming public sentiment in favor of a party which deems their claims to the ballot worthy of respectful consideration. wherever fairly and properly presented. as well as to aid in the defeat of a party which ignores their claims.

A MODEL REPUBLIC.

A correspondent of the Newark Advertiser who has recently visited the Swiss canton of Appenzell describes it as wonderfully prosperous. and at the same time the purest democracy in the world. He says that "the air of material well being is universal. Not a beggar accosts you, nor an individual meets you who does not look well clothed and well fed. Nothing in the land seems out of order. The roads would put to shame those of either France or England: the bridges and other public works are all in the best repair, and admirably engineered and constructed. Every village is connected by the telegraph wire. The school houses are models of arrangement; that at Gais would do credit, for size and external appearance, to any first-class provincial of Europe. The churches are quite astonishing." And in describing the government of this favored land he says that "once a year every male inhabitant between the ages of twenty-five and seventy is required by law to meet at a central spot, appointed for the rendezvous, there to discuss and regulate the affairs of the nation; and there they do meet in thousands and tens of thousands; and there accounts are settled. laws are voted, magistrates are elected and all things set in order for the year. These unpaid legislators carry their own provisions with them to the assembly, which never lasts more than a day, lest their unwonted numbers might breed a famine in the locality. All public functions are gratuitous, or receive only a nominal compensation. The salary of the landamman, or chief magistrate, is 300 francs per annum. The last landamman reigned for twenty years, and his son has just been appointed his successor. In this favored region there seems to be no taxes, or at least none paid in money, though every one is called upon to contribute his share to public works in the shape of what the French call prestation, or labor in kind. But do not imagine that these primitive practices denote also or are derived from primitive poverty. On the contrary the population is rich, and would be called rich anywhere, and many individuals were pointed out to me who were twice and thrice millionaires. The secret of all this is that the people have the country to themselves, and hold it and employ it and govern it for their own advantage and enjoyment, and not for the benefit of rulers, of whatever category.

A TEXT FOR BOYS.

"A good name is better than precious ointment." SOLOMON.

A man of very pleasing address, but very dishonest in his practices, once said to an honorable merchant, whose word was as good as his bond, "I give would fifty thousand dollars for your good name."

"Why so?" asked the other in some surprise.

"Because I could make a hundred thousand out of it."

The honorable character which was at the bottom of the good name he cared nothing for; it was only the reputation, which he could turn to account in a money point of view, which he coveted.

But a good name cannot be bought with silver; it, of all other possessions, must be fairly earned. When it is possessed, it is a better business capital than a great sum of money.—It is a capital any boy or girl may secure. Honesty must be its foundation, even in the smallest particulars. When an employer says, "That is a boy I can trust," he will always find himself in demand, provided he joins with it industry.

"The hand of the diligent maketh rich."

It seems hard at the time, maybe, this ceaseless round of work while other boys are lounging about store steps, or playing on the green. But the reward will come if you are faithful. While loungers are dragging out a miserable lifetime in privation and poverty, while the hard working boy lives at his ease, respected and honored.

Remember this, boys, if you desire to make your way in the world. There is nothing that can serve your purposes like a name for honesty and industry and you will never acquire either if you are a lounger about the streets, and a shirk at your business. Everybody suspects a lad who is often seen about saloon doors or tavern steps. It undermines a boy's character for honesty very rapidly to mix with the society he finds there; and such habits tend to anything but industrious ways.

THE ANGEL IN THE BLOCK.

It is related of Michail Angelo that while walking with some friends thro an obscure street in the city of Florence, he discovered a fine block of marble lying neglected in a yard, and half buried in dirt and rubbish. Regardless of his holiday attire he at once fell to work upon it, cleaning away its filth, and trying to lift it from the slime and mire in which it lay. His companions asked him, in astonishment, what he was doing; and what he wanted with that worthless piece of rock. "Oh, there's an angel in this stone," was the answer, "and I must get it out." He had it removed to his studio, and with patient toil with mallet and chisel, he let the angel out. What to others was a rude unsightly stone, to his educated eye was a buried glory of art, and he discovered at a glance what might be made of it. A mason would have put it in a stone walk; a cart man would have used it in filling in, or to grade the streets, but he transformed it into a creation of genius, and gave it a value for ages to come."

TEMPERANCE IN OUR SCHOOLS.

It is a favorite theory with many of those who cannot at present see any efficient method of putting down the traffic in ardent spirits, and who decline to assist in an effort to check its growth, that those engaged in the temperance reform should look to the rising generation for the full fruition of their hopes. They assert that the habits of intemperance are so strongly fixed in the men of the present generation that there is no hope for the passage of any laws having even a tendency to check the growth of the evil; and that we must begin with the children, the future men and women of the world, and educate them fully in the truths of the temperance cause, so that when they reach manhood or womanhood they will need no laws to restrain them from indulging in the use of liquor. Now, while we cannot agree with the people who reason thus, as far as the regards the necessity of passing stringent prohibitory laws or our ability by constant agitation of the matter to have such laws placed upon our statute books, we will heartily coincide with them in their desire to see their children properly educated as to the evils of intemperance and the benefits of sobriety. We believe it to be the bounden duty of every right minded, conscientious parent to see that every school teacher employed to educate the children are not only abstainers themselves, but that they are men and women who entertain correct sentiments in regard to intemperance, and who are ready and willing to inculcate lessons of sobriety, and to give timely and daily warning of the evils sure to follow the yielding to the fatal influence of strong drink. Educate the children in this everywhere, at home, and their day schools, or the Sabbath schools, and the fruits of such labor will in years be felt in the increasing numbers of those who will array themselves with the army of temperance, and who, when they have practical evidences of the great wrong committed by the indugees of alcohol, will look to educators of their youth who pointed out the danger ahead, and who taught them the right road to follow, and with grateful recollections of their efforts to accomplish this "they will call them blessed." We knew a few years ago of an institution of learning in this state where there were about two hundred youths and children in daily attendance, and the whole under control of a principal, in every respect but one, well qualified for the position. He was a gentleman of learning, a graduate of a noted university, and understood the profession well; but he was addicted to the use of strong drink, and was frequently under its influence, and the fact of his having been so was as well known to the children under his charge as any one else. With such an example constantly before them, who could not look for the ultimate ruin by strong drink of some of the boys or young men under his charge? We earnestly ask of parents that they give careful consideration to this matter, and see that their children have no such examples before them.

We once heard a story of negros that had mastered the Irish brogue, and played a trick on a boat load of emigrants, who were so eager to set foot on the soil of the New World, that they left the boat before their companions.

"An' are yees just over, boys?" said a jet black African, in the richest possible brogue, and with a warm interest, as he bent over the wharf where he and his comrades were working.

The strangers regarded him with a look of mingled astonishment and terror, while one of them found breath to inquire:

'An' how is it yees are so black?'

'It's the cloimate, boys, it's all in the cloimate,' was the answer.

'An' how long did it take it?' said the anxious spokesman, 'to make yez this color?'

'Three years, an' never a bit longer.'

'Thin, bedad Boys,' said paddy to his countrymen, 'let's go back; it's too soon to devils be intirely."

Words derive their power not from number, but from the directness and intensity with which they are delivered. Max Muller says: 'A well educated person in England, who has been at public school and at the University, who reads his Bible, Shakespeare, the London Times, and all of Muddie's library (nine twentieths of all the books published in England), seldom uses more than three thousand or four thousand words in actual conversation. Accurate thinkers and close reasoners, who avoid vague and general expressions, and wait till they find the word that fits their meaning, employ a large stock, and eloquent speakers may rise to a command of ten thousand. Milton's works are built up with eighteen hundred. The Old Testament says all it has to say with five thousand six hundred and forty two.'

According to the "Liberal" confederate journals the democracy are a venal set, ready to sell themselves to the highest bidder, republican or liberal. The Republican victories so far this year are accounted for by the assertion that the democrats sold themselves out at so much a head. The liberals were virtuous and non-purchasable; with the democrats it was only a question of price. We hope the democrats appreciate the value set on their principles by their liberal allies.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The Stark County Teachers' Association held its institute for 1872, at Waynesburg, commencing on Monday the 14th and ending Friday the 18th inst. The attendance was larger than that of former years, the enrollment being one hundred and sixty, showing that the teachers of Stark county are fully alive to the interests of our schools

At the fore and afternoon sessions, which were held in the school building, series of lectures were given upon English grammar by supt. W. H. Dressler, on geog. and history, by supt. E. A. Jones: on theory and practice of teaching and primary arithmetic, supt. Danl Worley; on penmanship, by Edwin Smith: on reading, by M. A. Troutman on written arithmetic, by prof. J. A. Brush: and on book-keeping, by prof. E. N. Hartshorn. At the evening sessions, which were held in the Presbyterian church, addresses were delivered on educational topics, and practical questions of interest were discussed by the association.

A deep interest and close attention were manifested by the entire association, and it is hoped, a work was accomplished, which must result in a direct benefit to the public schools.

At the meeting on Friday the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the hearty thanks of the Stark County Teachers' Association are due, and are hereby returned to the Board of Education at Waynesburg for the use of their school rooms for the purpose of holding the present Institute.

To supt. W. H. Ray, the local committee, and the citizens generally, who, by their untiring efforts, have done so much to make our stay in their midst a pleasant one, and our Institute a success.

To the trustees and members of the Presbyterian church and congregation, for the use of their house of worship for our evening meetings, and to the choir for their excellent music with which they favored us.

To Rev. Mr. Milligan for his able, instructive and profitable address and the interest he has manifested in our work.

To profs. E. N. Hartshorn and Jas. A. Brush, of Mt. Union College, for the valuable instruction they have, without charge, given us in their respective departments.

To Miss Hannah N. Brosius, for her excellent essay.

To M. A. Troutman, Edwin Smith, and the supts. of the Canton, Alliance and Massillon Union schools, for the valuable instruction gratuitously given by them to the Institute.

Resolved, That the secretary be instructed to prepare an abstract of the the proceedings of the Institute, and that the same be furnished the county papers and the Literary Advance for publication.

The officers chosen for the ensuing year are as follows—Pres., G. W. Yohs: vice Pres., J. H. Lehmaan, Miss H. M. Brosius, and J. A. Brush; Sec'y., M. A. Troutman: treasurer, Danl. Worley: Ex. Com., E. A. Jones and W. A. Kay. Canal Fulton was chosen as the place for holding the next Institute.

By order of Association,
M. A. TROUTMAN, Sec'y.

Yesterday the funeral of the late Ansel Lyons was very numerously attended. A large number of the Odd Fellows, of which he was a member, were present—also, a portion of the Hart Post—and a great many working men (for Russells and the Excelsior works were closed) beside many citizens in various walks of life. Seldom is there such a funeral here as on that occasion. Brief services were had at the Episcopal church, conducted by Rev. Prebasco, of Uniontown, who filled the place of Mr. Dean, now absent. Mr. S. was a man in public life, only as a working man, but he will be missed as much as almost any other man of this city taken off by death.

The directors of the Massillon Driving Park desire to tender their thanks to the ladies and gentlemen who so kindly aided them in the Floral Hall and also to those who served as committees, which is at the best a very unpleasant part. We feel confident that the premiums were awarded without favor to any one, and that the committees in all casses acted solely in the merits of the goods. To the farmers who took so much interest in our fair and to whom we are indebted for the fine display of stock, we also tender our thanks.

The fair was a success in every way and we hope next year with the aid of our citizens and farmers friends to give the largest exhibition ever seen in northern Ohio. J. E. BROWN, Sec'y.

Postponed to December 7th, 1872.

The Second Grand Gift Concert in aid of the public library of Kentucky, announced for Sept 28, has been postponed to December 7, 1872, because the accumulation of orders the few days before the drawing made it impossible to fill them without a few days delay, and as a short postponement was inevitable, it was determined to defer it to a time that would make a full drawing sure by the sale of all the tickets.

The money necessary to pay in full all the offered gifts is now on deposit in the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank, as will be seen by the following certificate of the cashier.

DEATH OF ANSEL STEPHENS.—Our community was unusually agitated on last Saturday evening on hearing of the sad accident which occured to Ansel Stephens, sometime during the afternoon of that day. He and Frank Brown were out on Mr. Pille's farm shooting game, and when the accident occured they were separated some distance, and Mr. S. was not found until twenty or thirty minutes after it is supposed. When found he was unable to speak, so could not explain how the fatal shot was fired. He had a shot gun, and it is supposed when raising it the trigger was accidentally caught by some means when the gun when off, the contents striking the head on the right side, taking away part of his ear, and breaking the skull. He was brought home, medical aid promptly summoned, and everything that could be was done to save life, but the wound was a fatal one, and Mr. Stevens died on Sunday morning about 8 o'clock, some fifteen hours after the accident. In all our community it seems as if death could not have chosen a more significant and unexpected mark, for the deceased was known to all our citizens. As a generous, noble hearted and energetic young man he had not a rival in this community. Industrious and a trustworthy, faithful ingenious mechanic, Mr. Bayliss, proprietor of the Excelsior Works, long employed Mr. Stephens as foreman in the iron department in his establishment, and he worthily and ably filled the responsible position to the satisfaction of all with whom he came in contact. The deceased was the support of an aged mother, and in her bereavment she has the heartfelt sympathies of this community, as also have other members of the family who survive to mourn the death of a brother. He was an unusually athletic young man, and years ago he would not permit any one to be imposed upon wrongfully without energetic interference. Yet he entertained no feeling of malice toward a living person, and was generous to a degree so that he was willing to aid any deserving object of charity. His exuberent spirit always manifested itself among his friends and no one better than he enjoyed an active useful life. Mr. S. was taken off at the age of 29 years, in the full vigor of his manhood.

Since writing the foregoing we are informed that Mr. Stevens did converse a little with Mr. Brown after the accident, and among other expressions remarked to the effect that he was fatally wounded. He also, with assistance, walked some distance, but had to be brought home on a wagon.

The enterprising, public spirited and thriving people of the pleasant village of Wilmot and making commendable and rapid strides in advancement. New residences and other structures have just been, or soon will be completed, and in a short time a fine new schoolhouse will be prepared for occupancy. Johnson, Putman & Co. are preparing for manufacturing the next year's supply of agricultural implements. In short, a spirit of enterprise pervades the entire neighborhood as well as the thriving town of Wilmot.

The New York Times is being introduced here, taking the place of the Tribune. Mr. Crooks, news dealer, has the agency for the Times, and is meeting with success.

It is a settled question that the rolling mill project goes on, all the needed conditions for its building having been complied with. The work of construction will probably soon be entered on and pushed to completion as rapidly as possible. It will be located just east of the junction of the Cleveland and Massillon and the P. Ft. W. & C. roads. This establishment put into operation will bring others.

The abutments for that bridge across the canal, on Cherry street, are nearly or quite finished, and those at the river, we are informed, are also completed. It is the design to put up the bridges—of iron—immediately so that the space between them can be filled during the winter, and thus connect that street with the railroad.

A temporary depot is to be put up, for the new railroad, where it crosses Main street. A contractor says that we shall have a through connection to the north within a week—perhaps in less time, and before the next election—Tuesday of next week—we can go to Dover by rail. Work on the road is rapidly progressing.

A late number of the Banner of light, Boston, publishes an abstract of a very interesting discourse, delivered by Rev. H. Murray, an orthodox congregational minister a few Sundays ago. His positions are so plain and full of common sense that we print them on the first page of to-day's paper. They will be found well worthy of perusal by all, whether orthodox or heretic

Within the last two or three weeks all who could do so have been busy in saving apples. They are so plenty that we are told farmers offer them at five cents a bushel, if the people chose to go and pick them.

A preliminary trial took place, which occupied Thursday and Friday of last week, before Esquire Warner, wherein the rioters—or whatever the law may term them—who had the row on the fair grounds on the 19th inst, were involved. Messrs. Porter & Ulman appeared on behalf of the state and R. H Folger for the defense. After vigorous and protracted efforts on both sides the parties—we have not heard their number—were bond over to appear before the court of common pleas, which takes place at Canton, commencing on the 11th prox.

Last week we gave a sort of running notice of the exhibitions at the recent fair, held on the Driving Park grounds, and noted a good many objects which seemed worthy of attention. Among other exhibitors were Messrs. Werts & Co., carriage manufacturers at Canton. These gentlemen, at very short notice produced some of their excellent work in the shape of carriages, which commended the admiration of all. Their specialty is consists in building vehicles of this class, and beginning on a small scale, and not many years ago, they have established a reputation which commends their work wherever it is known. Some of the fine specimens of their handicraft are to be seen in this city, which will do credit to any manufacturers in that line. Their work is strong, neat, substantial, made of the best material and put together by skilled and experienced workmen, yet the carriages run light, and are warranted to wear as long as anything in that line. Whoever is the fortunate owner of anything in the way of carriages, coming from the establishment of Werts & Co, Canton, may be proud of their possessions.

A Good Investment.—The best investment any young man can make is to procure a scholarship in the Iron City College, Pittsburgh. There is no other school in the Union to be compared with it,

For several weeks the weather has been dry here, but during the last week we were favored with several refreshing rains. Other parts of the country have been almost overflowed with water. In consequences of the late showers it is said that the grain looks well.

As Mr. Altekruse has resigned his position as member of the city council from the second ward, it has been suggested that the name of Charles Garrigues be proposed to fill this vacancy,—election to take place on 5th of November.

Business men are more and more appreciating the necessity of having letter heads bill heads, envelopes and all that sort of conveniences printed. Tags also come in play for manufacturers. We are prepared to accommodate customers.

Do you want to buy your fall and Winter dry goods, at greatly reduced prices, we call your attention to the stock of goods now being opened at Ricks'. They consist of a full stock of dress goods, which are being sold at prices lower than ever before offered in this city, in shawls and blankets, the prices will satisfy you that they are not made of high priced wool. In black silks and fancy goods their assortment is complete. All are cordially invited to call and examine our new goods and new prices.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving and Beautifying the Human Hair. To Prevent its Falling Out and Turning Gray.

A well preserved head of hair in a persons of middle age, at once bespeaks refinement, elegance, health and beauty. It may truly be called woman's crowning glory, while men are not insensible to its advantages and charms. Few things are more disgusting than thin, frizzly, harsh, untamed hair, with head and coat covered with dandruff. Visit a barber and you look and feel like a new man. This is what Lyon's Kathairon will do all the time. The charm which lies in well placed hair, glossy curls, luxuriant tresses, and a clean head, is noticeable and irresistable. Sold by all druggists and country stores 1m2—445-1y.

DR. CARPENTER,

136 Mulberry street, Newark, N. J.,

During the past ten years Dr. Carpenter has treated and cured thousands of cases of the above named diseases, and has now in his possession certificates of cures from every part of the country. The inhalation is breathed directly into the lungs, soothing and healing over all inflamed surfaces; entering into the blood, it imparts vitality as it permeates to every part of the system. The sensation is not unpleasant, and the first inhalation often gives very decided relief, particularly when there is much difficulty of breathing. Under the influence of my remedies, the cough soon grows easier, the night sweats cease, the hectic flush vanishes, and with improving digestion the patient rapidly gains strength, and health is again within his grasp.

The concentrated food rapidly builds up the most debilitated patient, presenting to the stomach food all ready to be assimilated and made into good, rich, healthy blood.

The cough syrup is to be taken at night to alleviate the cough and enable the patient to obtain sleep. Full directions accompany each box of my remedies, which consists of

One Inhaler, one bottle of Alterative Inhalant, one bottle of Soothing Febrifuge Inhalant, one bottle of Anti-Hemorragic Inhalant, one bottle of Concentrated Food, and one bottle Cough Syrup

Price of box containing remedies to last one month, $10; two months 18 three months 25.

Sent to any address C O D. Pamphlets containing large list of patients cured sent free. Letters of inquiry must contain one dollar to insure answer. Address,

OLD THINGS HAVE PASSED AWAY.

This is at least true of the old method of treating the long abused and much abused human body. It is no longer considered wise to put a patient to torture in order to cure him of a disease in which death is already undermining the energies of his system. True science ranges itself on the side of nature and endeavors to assist her in her in her fight against disease. This is the province of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most approved tonic ever advertised in this country. It may be recommended as a fair medicine, par excellence; for it is in the fall that biliousness, dyspepsia and malarious fevers are especially prevalent. The frame exhausted by the heats of summer, is relaxed and feeble at its close, and requires, we may say demands, artificial assistance. Afford it that assistance in occasional doses of Hostetter's Bitters, and the evils referred to may be escaped. Throughout the far west, and on the gushing alluvial of the southern rivers, all the varieties of periodical fever are probably rife to day. Had a course of Hostetter's Bitters been commenced by the sufferers a month ago, i. e., before the unhealthy season set in, seven eights of them would in all probability be in their usual health at the present time. So much for want of forecaste. So much for not keeping in the house, and using daily, the best safeguard against epidemic and epidemic fevers.

As flocks of imposters and imitators are trying to follow in the wake of the great American remedy, therefore be sure that the article you buy is genuine and verified by the proper trade marks. The true article can only be obtained in bottles. Beware of the sperious bitters sold by the gallon or in keg.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®
NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

In the juvenile way we do not remember to have seen anything better than this, which we quote from a rural journal of Massachusetts. The editor had seen a contest between an ant and a canker-worm, in which the latter was killed and carried off for food, and this recalled an anecdote of a little boy with tow at one end of him, and toe at the other, who said that he loved his mother best, but in a straight-out busking match he'd bet on his aunt.

A western editor, in announcing the demise of his paper, says: "The brilliancy of our career has only been equaled by its brevity, and the lack of business management has been equaled by the lack of business itself."

The best definition of scandal ever given, according to Arthur Helps, was that of the little girl who described it thus: "Nobody does nothing, and everybody goes on telling it everywhere." That is better than dictionary.

Squire—"Robson, they tell me you've taken your boy away from the public school. What's that for?"

Villager—"Cause the master ain't fit to teach um."

Squire—"O, I've heard that he is a very good master."

Villager—"Well, all I knows is, he wanted to teach my boy to spell taters with a P!"

Mr. Lincoln was exceedingly astonished one day, as he was inspecting the prison in Washington, by a prisoner who said to him, "How are you, Mr. President? I believe that you and I have been in every jail in the union." "This and the jail in Springfield are the only ones I was in in my life," said Mr. Lincoln. "Very likely," responded the rogue, "But I have been in all the rest."

The New Orleans Picayune says: We know of four parishes in this state, with a population of about 43,000 of all ages, colors and sexes, in which 4,000 barrels of whisky are required to meet the yearly demand. It has been estimated, upon a fair basis of calculation, that the consumers in these four parishes pay half a million dollars yearly for liquor and strong drinks—about three times the amount of their state and parish taxes. The colored population all over the state, not only the men, but the women, drink enormous quantities of whisky.

The gross sales of the cotton and sugar crops of the state since the war do not amount to over $30,000,000 yearly. The drink of the people amounts to more than $30,000,000 yearly.

The Springfield, Mass., Union says the bold experiment of C. F. Samson, a heavy shoe manufacturer of North Adams, in the importation and employment of Chinese laborers, inaugurated some twenty months ago, has proved a complete success. Of the original fifty laborers first set to work, forty-eight still remain, and are in all respects first class workmen, industrious, faithful and reliable. During the time they have been employed they have so fully mastered the difficulties of their work as to be able at the present time to produce larger results every week than the same number of white hands were accustomed to do two years ago. They work steadily, ask for no holidays, and save their earnings to a miserly degree. No objection has been brought against them as being licentious or intemperate. In a word, their outward conduct and industry have been beyond reproach. Mr. Samson's success with his Celestial help is likely to encourage others to make a similar experiment when in similar need.

Joyful Intelligence.—The ways of life, though cheqnered over with pain and suffering, can be greatly smoothed over by a careful attention to the health of the body.

Do not let disease fasten on the strongholds of life before you do something for it. We speak more particularly of those chronic maladies which cling to us for years with untold misery, not bad enough to make us bed sick, but still full of suffering and anxiety. Among these lingering ailments are those of the lungs and pulmonary organs, for which people have been made to believe there is no cure. Do not believe it, but try. Try Dr Keyser's Lung Cure. It will renew the energies of life and make its machinery roll with evenness and harmony. Not only in lung diseases is Dr Keyser's Lung Cure of value, but in all those morbid states of the system where energy is wanting and where dullness abounds. Sold at 167 Liberty st, Pittsburgh, at $1,50 a bottle, or four for $5.

Bronchitis.—This is an irritation or inflamation of the bronchial tubes which carry the air we breathe into the lungs. It arises from a cold settled in the throat, from Catarrh extending to these parts, from scrofulous affections, and from severe use of the voice. The irritation from this latter cause so smears in the larnyx and glotis, which are the organs of the voice, and extending downwards, produces hoarseness, coughing and spitting mucous matter, sometimes mixed with blood. It is chiefly dangerous from its tendency to spread into the lungs, and terminates in consumption. It is in the cure of severe and obstinate cases of this disease that Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has achieved unparalled success, and won the loudest praise from all who have used it. It is sold by all respectable druggists. 584

Holloway's Pills and Ointment are the only medicinal preparations necessary in families. The Pills regulate all the internal organs with unerring certainty; the Ointment is a positive antidote to all external diseases. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N Y. Price, 25 cents per pot or box. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

Beautiful Women.—The hair is the crowning glory of women. There are few modern defects which cannot be remedied by the proper disposition of the tresses. But when the hair begins to fall out, or turn gray, in young people, or with those in the prime of life, there is cause for real regret. When this is the case, Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer will be found to be a first class remedy, far superior, as a scientific medicine, to anything else before the public. It actually restores gray hair to its original color, and in the great majority of cases, causes it to grow again when it is beginning thin. It is not like many popular preparations, a mere wash, but a scientific discovery, indorsed and used by physicians of character. Address R. P Hall & Co, Nashua, N. H.

Be warned, never neglect a cold, it is easily cured in its incipient state, when it becomes chronic the cure is exceedingly difficult, use Well's Carbolic Tablets as a specific

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN JURUBEBA BLOOD PURIFIER

It is not a physic which may give temporary relief to the sufferer for the first few doses, but which from continued use brings piles and kindred diseases to aid in weakening the invalid, nor is it a doctored liquor, which, under the popular name of bitters is so extensively palmed off on the public as sovereign remedies, but is a most powerful tonic and alterative, pronounced so by the leading medical authorities of London and Paris, and has been long used by the regular physicians of other countries with wonderful remedial results.

Dr Wells' Extract of Jurubeba

retains all the medicinal virtues peculiar to the plant and must be taken as a permanent curative agent.

Is there want of action in your liver and spleen? Unless relieved at once, the blood becomes impure by deleterious secretions, producing scrofulous or skin diseases, felons, blotches, pustules, canker, &c.

Take Jurubeba to cleanse, purify and restore the vitiated blood to healthy action.

Have you a dyspeptic stomach? Unless digestion is promptly aided the system in debilitated with loss of vital force, poverty of the blood, dropsical tendency, general weakness or has ittacks.

Have you weakness of the intestines? You are in danger of chronic diarrhoea or the dreadful inflammation of the bowels.

Take it to allay irritation and ward off tendency to inflammations

Have you weakness of the Uterine or urinary organs? You must procure instantly relief or you are liable to suffering worse than death.

Take it to strengthen organic weakness or life becomes a burden.

Finally it should be frequently taken to keep the system in perfect health or you are otherwise in great danger of malarial, miasmatic or contagious diseases.

DOCTOR PIERCE'S
ALTERATIVE
Golden Medical Discovery

CURES DISEASES OF THE THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER & BLOOD

In the wonderful medicine to which the afflicted are above pointed for relief, the discoverer believes he has established a harmony more of Nature's most powerful curative properties, which God has distributed into the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick, than were ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the most skeptical, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it controls severe Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great alterative and thorough blood purifying properties, it cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and the effects of bad treatment, quickly yield to its powerful influence, and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all those diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful purifying and invigorating medicine.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face, pimples, impure breath, or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternate with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver or "Biliousness," in many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for, and such cases Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strong, clear and healthy. For the cure of Habitual Constipation of the bowels it is a never failing remedy, and those who have used it for this purpose are loud in its praise.

The proprietor offers $1,000 reward for a medicinal fact which equal it for the cure of all the diseases for which it is recommended.

Sold by druggists at $1 per bottle. Prepared by R. V. Pierce, M. D., sole Proprietor, at his Chemical Laboratory, 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y. Send your address for a pamphlet.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

℞ No one remedy is louder called for by the necessities of the American people than a sure and safe cure for Fever and Ague. Such we are now enabled to offer, with a perfect certainty that it will eradicate the disease, and with assurance, founded on proof, that no harm can arise from its use in any quantity.

That which protects from or prevents this disorder must be of immense service in the communities where it prevails. Prevention is better than cure; for the patient escapes the risk which he must run in violent attacks of this baleful distemper. This "CURE" expels the miasmatic poison of Fever and Ague from the system, and prevents the development of the disease, if taken on the first approach of its premonitory symptoms. A great superiority of this remedy over any other ever discovered for the speedy and certain cure of Intermittents is, that it contains no Quinine or mineral; consequently it produces no quinism or other injurious effects whatever upon the constitution. Those cured by it are left as healthy as if they had never had the disease.

Fever and Ague is not alone the consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of ill-orders arise from its irritation, among which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause, put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "CURE" expels the poison from the blood, and consequently cures them all alike. It is an invaluable protection to immigrants and persons travelling or temporarily residing in the malarious districts. If taken occasionally or daily while exposed to the infection, that will be excreted from the system, and cannot accumulate in sufficient quantity to ripen into disease. Hence it is even more valuable for protection than cure; and few will ever suffer from Intermittents if they avail themselves of the protection this remedy affords.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity, and producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines fail.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is widely known as one of the most effectual remedies ever discovered for cleansing the system and purifying the blood. It has stood the test of years, with a constantly growing reputation, based on its intrinsic virtues, and sustained by its remarkable cures. So mild as to be safe and beneficial to children, and yet so searching as to effectually purge out the great corruptions of the blood, such as the scrofulous and syphilitic contamination. Impurities or diseases that have lurked in the system for years soon yield to the healing influence of this powerful antidote, and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Ulcers, Eruptions, and eruptive disorders of the skin, Tumors, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Sores, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, and internal Ulcerations of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver. It also cures other complaints, to which it would not seem especially adapted, such as Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Fits, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Female Weakness, Debility, and Leucorrhœa, when they are manifestations of the scrofulous poisons.

It is an excellent restorer of health and strength in the Spring. By renewing the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the depression and listless languor of the season. Even where no disorder appears, people feel better, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. The system moves on with renewed vigor and a new lease of life.

CAUTION.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.
